It has been such a relief to be back in school as usual this week and get back into our learning routines and great to see the children rested and happy after half term. We've absolutely loved celebrating our first music week, kicked off with an amazing performance from Electric Umbrella. Their work is such an inspiration to us as we celebrate our individuality this term. Thank you so much to Mrs Frazer for organising such a fun and educational week. I had a great time making challah with Year 5 this morning and we look forward to a beautiful Friday Night Dinner together.

Shabbat Shalom, have a great weekend.

Children who have been to see me with good work this week: Camden, Fallon, Joshua, Cianna L for an excellent summary

We will miss her very much and wish her every success for the future.

Understanding emotion dyregulation in children webinar
Behind a child's emotional dysregulation is often a little person struggling to make sense of feelings that feel too big to handle alone. ❤️
Understanding what's happening can change how we respond — and help our children feel truly understood.
Please join Dr Michelle Benson, Counselling Child Psychologist and Muzzi Nathan, Specialist Paediatric Occupational Therapist for an informative and practical webinar to help parents better understand and support their children: Understanding Emotion Dysregulation in Children: A Practical Webinar for Parents by Bright Pathways UK.
This practical webinar will take place on Thursday 7th January 2027 at 20.00 – 21.15PM. If you would like to join, please see the link below for further information and to book your place:
🔗 https://brightpathwaysuk.com/register
We'll be exploring what emotional dysregulation actually means, some of the common triggers, how it can present in children, and, most importantly, practical ways to support them when they're finding things difficult.
Our aim is to help parents better understand what might be happening beneath the surface of their child's behaviour, and feel more confident in how to respond and support them through those challenging moments.
